

Monday May 4th 2009

Site feedback

- Home
- This week's print edition
- Daily news analysis
- Opinion
 - All opinion
 - Leaders
 - Letters to the Editor
 - Blogs
 - Columns
 - KAL's cartoons
 - Correspondent's diary
 - Economist debates

- World politics
 - All world politics

- Politics this week

- International

- United States
 - The Americas

- Asia

- Middle East and Africa

- Europe

- Britain

- Special reports

- Business
 - All business
 - Business this week
 - Management
 - Business education

- Finance and economics
 - All finance and economics
 - Economics focus
 - Economics A-Z

- Markets and data
 - All markets and data
 - Daily chart
 - Weekly indicators
 - World markets
 - Currencies
 - Rankings
 - Big Mac index

- Science and technology
 - All science and technology
 - Technology Quarterly
 - Technology Monitor

- Books and arts
 - All books and arts
 - Style guide

- People
 - People
 - Obituaries

- Diversions

- Audio and video
 - Audio and video library
 - Audio edition

- The World In
 - The World in 2009
 - The World in 2008
 - The World in 2007
 - The World in 2006
 - The World in 2005
 - The World in 2004

- Research tools
 - All research tools
 - Articles by subject
 - Backgrounders
 - Economics A-Z
 - Special reports
 - Style guide

- Country briefings
 - All country briefings
 - China

United States

Dachshund racing

Dogs in a hurry

Apr 30th 2009 | BUDA, TEXAS

From The Economist print edition

Stubby-legged racers take off

Illustration by Claudio Munoz

ROSCOE, a piebald dachshund, was the runt of his litter. No one wanted to buy him. So the breeder gave him to Jeremy Dingle, who soon realised that he had a special pup, now a top dog in the dachshund-racing world. Fresh from victory in Lubbock, Texas, Roscoe was a potential winner as he prepared this week for the semi-final of the Wiener Dog Races in Buda.

Dachshunds, sometimes known as wiener or sausage dogs, are one of the most popular breeds in America. Racing the little creatures got a boost in 1993 when it was featured in a beer advertisement. Now there are dozens of races each year, mostly in southern and western states. (New England eschews the pastime, although there are fancy-dress parties for dachshunds in New York's Washington Square Park.) The largest event, the Wienerschnitzel Wiener Nationals in southern California, sponsored by a chain of hot-dog restaurants, attracts tens of thousands of visitors.

A wiener dog at full throttle, flying down the lane with his ears inside out and tongue flapping, is a sight worth seeing. And the races return some civic benefits. The Buda event, in which no fewer than 468 dachshunds were taking part, is sponsored by the local Lions Club and has proved to be their best fund-raiser. Proceeds go to scholarships, summer camps and eye care.

The Dachshund Club of America is opposed to wiener-dog racing on the ground that it is hard on the dogs. But at this point the competitions are hardly cutthroat, and the racers are pets first and foremost. In Buda, one owner bragged that her dachshund could catch a bee in its mouth, and release it unharmed.

The young sport is even the subject of a new documentary film, "Wiener Takes All". Shane MacDougall, the documentarian, says that people track him down every week for advice on how to start their own races. Researching the film during the phase of the Iraq war when anti-French sentiment led some Americans to call their chips freedom-fries, he stumbled upon a historical coincidence: during the first world war patriotic owners renamed their dachshunds "liberty pups". "I think we just need to send more wiener dogs to the United Nations," suggests Mr MacDougall.

Back to top ^^

Readers' comments

The Economist welcomes your views.

- Comment \(7\)
- Recommend \(12\)
- E-mail
- Share
- Print
- Reprints & permissions

Related Items

From The Economist
Dog-racing's desperate comeback
EB
Mar 27th 2008

Country briefing
United States

More articles about...
Sports and games

Websites
The Buda Lions Club has information about the event. See also the Dachshund Club of America, the Wienerschnitzel Wiener Nationals and "Wiener Takes All".

Advertisement

Economist Conferences

Asia CEO Agenda 2009

Riding out the storm—preparing for a new growth environment in 2010?

May 21st 2009
The St. Regis Singapore